WushuOntario – Emergency Medical Response Policy

Purpose

In WushuOntario competition events, medical first responders should always be near the training and competition floor areas and be prepared and equipped to respond to medical emergencies.

WushuOntario expects that an Emergency Medical Response plan will be in place at all Wushu competitions. Competition organizers have a responsibility to ensure a safe environment for participating athletes and should have a clearly documented plan in place to deal with the full spectrum of medical emergencies.

Knowing what to do in an emergency is the key component to ensuring that the situation is handled appropriately. Knowledge saves lives. A typical event emergency medical plan should reference the following:

Protocol

- a. Determine who is in charge in case of an emergency with clear and defined roles and responsibilities and ensure these roles are understood by all involved, coaches, officials, team managers, volunteers:
- b. Have cell phones or 2-way radios at the venue, with fully charged batteries accessible by designated individuals.
- c. Designate in advance a call person: the person who contacts medical authorities and otherwise assists the medical personnel in charge, this should be the medical supervisor who attends all WushuOntario events.
- d. Ensure the designated call person can give emergency vehicles precise instructions to reach the location or site of the medical emergency.
- e. Identify possible emergencies that may occur and work with event doctors and staff during combative events to ensure all staff and volunteers are clear with each other's responsibilities.
- f. Ensure that event volunteers know what to do in the case of a medical emergency.
- g. Ask the host venue for a copy of their emergency response plan and be knowledgeable of the content including the roles and responsibilities of the venue emergency coordinator, the location of first aid and emergency equipment, evacuation procedures etc.
